Raksha Bandhan

The much awaited Indian traditional festival of sisterly and brotherly respect was celebrated by tiny tots with zeal and enthusiasm. To commemorate the day, the tiny tots made beautiful rakhis for their siblings and adorned them with love in their hearts. Through their heart touching poems they beautifully explained the meaning of the tradition of tying a holy thread 'Rakhi' around the wrist of brothers by their sisters. They further added that this tradition symbolizes 'Raksha' which means protection and 'Bandhan' which means bond. Festivals truly taught students about our Indian traditions and values.
